Former Governor Aram J. Pothier, himon the tragedy was that it showed the danger of ignorance concerning spirit matters. If Mrs. Fancher had been well informed, he said, she would have known that she was defeating her purpose by committing suicide, as that is regarded in the hereafter as a serious crime, and self-released spirits are pent up for a period and permitted to have no intercourse with living beings.

To Hit Volstead Act

Labor and Capital Will Unite in Demonstration at Madison Square Garden

Labor and capital will unite in a demonstration against the Volstead act on Wednesday, May 3, when the New York division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment will hold a mass meeting at Madison Square Garden. James P. Holland, president of the New York Federation of Labor, will preside. Members of labor unions in city and state will at of Labor, will preside. Members of labor unions in city and state will at-tend in a body.

In accepting the chairmanship of the meeting Mr. Holland said:

"The New York State Federation of Labor is most heartily in accord with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and its demand that the Volstead act be repealed. The laboring man has just as much right to his glass of beer as the rich man has. Under the present conditions there is discrimination against him. Prohibition may be of value in some departments of labor, but, in my opinion, the men who are doing heavy, laborious work in the mines, power plants or wherever there is excessive heat need their beer and are entitled to it. This is also true of the longshoremen and many other branches of labor. At our two conventions, I am glad to say, the 500 delegates were unanimous in their objection to prohibition and in their depared for the record of the icction to prohibition and in their de-mand for the repeal of the Volstead act. I believe that this repeal is near
